

Web Phishing Detection

The phishing attack is used to steal confidential information of a user. Fraud websites appear like genuine websites with the logo and graphics of genuine websites. This project aims to detect fraud or phishing website using machine learning techniques.

